Urban Voices Project brings the healing power of music directly to individuals living in the condition of homelessness, marginalized by mental health issues, poverty and unemployment. Community singing and music education combine to provide practical opportunities for individuals to transcend their current circumstances and participate in a creative program of positive change.

As we expand the reach of our programming to centers of homelessness beyond Skid Row, we are recruiting candidates for our Teacher Training Program. The ideal candidate will have an openness to developing an ongoing understanding of the condition of homelessness, a dedication to demonstrate the principles of trauma-informed care, and professional level of musicianship.

Description:
Teaching Artists will be trained to facilitate Neighborhood Sing, an hour-long, interactive program of conscious breathing and vocal exercises, improvisation to promote self-expression, followed by community singing with a diverse repertoire of songs, and guided conversation to provide tools for improving health and wellness, mind and body for everyone of the community. Training Period is compensated minimum wage [$11/hour]. Upon completion of training, $75 per workshop.

Preferred Qualifications:
- Bachelor’s degree in education, music, social work or related field
- Excellent musical, communication and organization skills
- Availability six hours weekly:
  - Wednesdays afternoons 3:00-6:00
  - Minimum one additional three-hour block to be determined upon completion of training.
- Performing with the UVP Performing Choir is not required yet highly encouraged.
- Spanish language skills and early childhood education are especially beneficial for certain programs.
- Ability to pass a criminal record and child abuse/neglect registry background check before commencing training program*
- Valid Driver’s License and use of a dependable insured car a plus;
- Proven integrity and ability to operate as a team player.
- Two references: one professional and one personal

Please send cover letter and resume to: info@urbanvoicesproject.org with “Teaching Position” in the subject line.